

CINERGY™ Conflict Management Coaching Workshop

Dublin: 8th, 9th September and 6th, 7th October 2020

Delivered by: Mary Lou O’Kennedy, OAK Conflict Dynamics Ltd

Conflict Management Coaching is fast emerging as a significant Alternative Dispute Resolution process. It offers people an opportunity to anticipate, strategise and develop practical responses to conflict in their lives, whether in a personal or professional context. ‘It assumes that individuals can learn how to manage conflict better in their lives and to do so through dialogue’ (J. Macfarlane & B. Mayer: Conflict Management Coaching, The CINERGY™ Model, Cinnie Noble, 2011)

This workshop provides participants with basic competence in the skills of the leading internationally recognised CINERGY™ model of Conflict Management Coaching. It is increasingly used by professional coaches, mediators, HR professionals, business managers, leaders and conflict resolution professionals. It provides a range of conflict management tools that are used successfully to deal with workplace issues including allegations of workplace bullying, performance related issues, change management, team development, personality clashes and other interpersonal workplace conflict.

This course is recognised for CPD points from the Mediators’ Institute of Ireland (MII) and the International Coaching Federation (ICF).

Participants will gain:

- An understanding of the nature of conflict and their own responses to it
- An understanding of the principles and methods of the CINERGY™ model of conflict management coaching
- A working knowledge of the applications of this technique in addressing performance related issues, contract negotiations, personality clashes, team performance, effective communication, decision making and other work related situations

Testimonials:

‘As a Mediator and HR specialist working in an international environment, I found the Conflict Management Coaching Workshop, based on the Cinergy Model, to be extremely valuable.

Mary Lou O’Kennedy is inspirational in her mastery of conflict coaching. Skilfully using the Cinergy model, she observes, listens, zones in, engages, untangles and enables awareness, bringing new understanding and insight. In a practical and supportive way, Mary Lou mirrors back to us areas for improvement, shining light with precision on what triggers our own unique responses in situations of conflict.

Suddenly we just ‘get it’! There are several ‘Eureka’ moments, both during the training and much later. It is then we discover that we are able to use our new found skills and tools not only for ourselves but also to benefit others.

Overall, a very worthwhile training experience with new angles and long-lasting effect that teaches us to trust the process, let go and gain valuable perspective.’

Anna Doyle, Mediator and HR Specialist with EuroControl, Brussels

- One individual mentoring session post training
- Certification of course completion, which along with practice hours can lead to CINERGY™ qualification
- This workshop is eligible for 24 continuous professional development (CPD) points from the Mediators' Institute of Ireland (MII) and has been approved for 28 hours of Continuing Coaching Education (26 Core Competencies and 2 Resource Development)from the International Coaching Federation (ICF)

Content of the Workshop:

Among other things, this 4-day workshop includes the following topics:

- the nature of conflict and conflict dynamics
- theory, principles and methods specific to the CINERGY™ model of conflict management coaching
- stages of conflict management coaching
- conflict management skills
- applications of conflict management coaching
- ethical guidelines and standards of practice

Methods Used in the Workshop:

Through self-reflection, skill-building exercises, discussion, simulations, demonstrations and skills practices, participants develop and practice conflict management coaching techniques and skills.

Participants:

The training will be of specific interest to professional coaches, mediators, HR professionals, public and private sector managers and leaders, team supervisors, union officials, solicitors, barristers, and other conflict management professionals, who want to learn the fundamentals of effective conflict management.

For professional coaches CINERGY™ Conflict Management Coaching enhances your coaching skills in enabling your clients to manage a specific dispute or conflict which may play a significant part in the achievement of their goals. It provides you as coach with a structured framework with which to specifically address conflict which can be used by you as a discreet piece of work with your client or as in a complimentary way within your own processes.

For mediators and conflict resolution professionals CINERGY™ Conflict Management Coaching provides additional conflict intervention skills which can be used to great effect in pre-mediation and post mediation work or where mediation has broken down or is not an option for clients. The skills acquired also enhance the mediator's effectiveness within mediation particularly in dealing with highly charged disputes and with clients with strong emotions.

For HR professionals, supervisors, managers, business owners and leaders CINERGY™ Conflict Management Coaching expands the range of options available to you in dealing with workplace conflict earlier and informally, thereby avoiding the formal and litigious route which can lead to prolonged and destructive outcomes. It also provides new skills

Testimonials:

'I attended this workshop to equip myself with necessary tools and techniques to support my clients who were experiencing difficulty with conflict in their lives and the workplace.

The workshop was interactive, comprehensive and professionally delivered. I came away with deep insights and awareness of how to develop my own conflict competence.

I have since incorporated the CINERGY model into my coaching practice with successful results.

The model is both robust and easily understood by my clients and has made huge impact on the achievement of their desired outcomes.

Overall a great investment. '

Testimonials:

‘As a mediator I identified the CINERGY Conflict Coaching workshop as an opportunity to gain a greater understanding of conflict (and in particular how I dealt with conflict myself) so that I am better prepared to deal with conflict in the mediation arena.

The Workshop set about providing additional skills and knowledge in the management and resolution of a specific dispute. In my view it is a well structured carefully thought through system by which the Conflict Coach assists an individual to align themselves more effectively with a new perspective for managing their responses to a specific conflict.

There was a natural progression from beginning to end and there was a real sense of learning a new powerful skill.

Mary Lou O’Kennedy comes across as a very accomplished trainer who worked really hard to make sure the experience was as good as it could be for the attendees. Her capacity for empathy and lucidity around difficult human situations makes her an excellent trainer in conflict and mediation scenarios.

I completed the workshop with a strong sense that I was now equipped with new skills and a new system for dealing with clients in dispute whether independently or within a mediation context.’
